Award Description	The Award Description has been updated with the following narrative: The funds have been awarded for three types of projects: eMINTS, Infrastructure Projects, and Innovation Projects. eMINTS (enhancing Missouri's Instructional Networked Teaching Strategies) blends state-of-the-art technology; instructional strategies focused on inquiry-based teaching, higher order thinking skills, and cooperative learning; and professional development for teachers. Goals include increases in: teacher use of instructional technology, teacher technology literacy, student academic achievement, and student technology literacy. The Infrastructure Project supports the deployment and installation of wireless equipment to schools in a consortium of nine (9) LEAs to support instruction and the deployment of the State's new online Student Comprehensive Assessment System (DCAS). Goals of this portion of the project are that identified schools will have at least wireless G coverage in 90% of instructional spaces, wireless network will make DCAS administration more efficient and wireless infrastructure will be sufficiently secure. The Infrastructure Project also provides unique professional development in an area of need for each LEA. Content of the professional development includes: SMART Board training of staff or the training of an in-house certified trainer, technology integration in alignment with Learning Focused Strategies (Learning-Focused Curriculum Development is a model that helps schools and districts develop a high quality standards-driven curriculum), online professional development through the State's eLearning initiative, and the integration of new or existing resources into instruction such as Inspiration Software®, Thinkfinity online resources, iPods, or a website development tool. Goals include increased and improved teacher use of instructional technology and in some cases, student achievement. There are two Innovation projects that have been funded. The first, LFS Digital involves three districts that are providing professional development to their staff while promoting the integration of open education resources, Thinkfinity, and Discovery Education into their Learning Focused Strategies curriculum development initiative. The LEAs will be sharing their resources via an online wiki. The findings are limited at this time; however, the LEAs report that good staff cooperation is occurring. The goal of this project is increased and improved teacher use of instructional technology. The second Innovation project is the CHIRP for 21st Century Learning Project which involves two LEAs. These LEAs are working in cooperation to implement an iPad initiative into their 9th grade mathematics classrooms. Even with two different mathematics curricula in place, the LEAs are joining for professional development and are sharing resources and experiences. Both teachers and students are highly motivated and the iPad devices were deployed in both districts classrooms ahead of schedule due to teacher comfort with the device and their excitement about enhancing their curricula. The goals of this project are increased and improved teacher use of instructional technology and student achievement in 9th grade mathematics.
